More From the Reminiscences of Roy Anderson

Here is another installment in the series of "Dear Folks" letters which Roy Anderson originated for servicemen during World War II, and revived later as messages to other Hope citizens.

By ROY ANDERSON

We read of hi-jacking airplanes and holding 500 people as hostages. What next? One girl guerilla was boarding a plane with two hand grenades hidden in her bra. That's a new use for a bra—not my idea of what bras are for. In fact, I often wonder why a bra. A stranger asked about Spring Hill—and a native said, "A big town where men are men and women are double breasted." No women in Spring Hill Twp. ever used bras. They would get in the way of the baby to nurse (not from a bottle). In Spring Hill Twp. babies were not weaned until they quit diapers and it took alum then to make 'em quit.

(Sept., 1970)—much later. This letter was started at the office, now here I am again in the hospital. Doc. says "Shingles"—In Spring Hill we use to call it the Rich. What causes it? And in the absence of any answer, says it's a virus. What causes virus? I'd like to have a picture of a virus. I pray you never have it. The service at the Hospital was good, friends were lovely. Hope has more wonderful people than any place I know. "Ye are the salt of the earth." "I was sick and you visited me—when saw thee sick, verily I say unto you, inasmuch as you have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, you have done it unto me." Read Matt. 25, all of it. The food here is good and bountiful. If I had plowed all day in new ground, I couldn't have "et" it all—it's not the food, it's me, full of shots, that kills my appetite.

This visit to the hospital occurred on the week of the Arkansas-Stanford Game and Mary Sue and I had tickets and parking ticket, but couldn't make it. Had to see it on TV. Vera and I gave the hospital a TV set years ago—but I was with one in my room—charge $1.25 per day. Medicare doesn't cover TV. I wish you could see my "operation"—it looks like the side view of a leopard. My "shingles" must have been asbestos—as they were tough. Shower, shots, shave, shots, pills, and then more shots. Only 2 legs and 2 hips and the nurses are looking for more territory to shoot.

These Doctors are smart—should be after 12 years in medical school, but they, too, change their minds. If one shot doesn't cure you, try another, different place, different color. They fought medicare, but it's the best thing that ever happened to them. Uncle Sugar takes care of lots of these bills they formerly charged off as loss. The old story of a Doc. whose son came out of Med school, insisted that Dad take a trip—3 months vacation and he (the son) would take over his patients. When the Doc returned, he asked, "Well, son, how did you get along?" "Just fine, Dad, you remember the rich Mrs. Smith you treated for 5 years, well, I cured her." "You rascal—she put you through college." And, then there was the boy from Spring Hill who got to go to Med. School. His Dad didn't think anyone could get well without calamel and quinine, and a little turpentine, and every household had an ample supply—his Dad asked, "Did you specialize in any disease?" "Yes, Dad, in Obstetrics." "Why just one thing? Some young doctor will find a cure for it, and you'll be out of a job." There are many old jokes about doctors—who most of 'em have a sense of humor, but to me a Doc is no joke. God Bless 'em. We love 'em and can't get along without 'em.

I've never read Emily Post's book on Etiquette but know it's customary to say thanks in acknowledgement to those who have remembered one for the gifts, cards, flowers, and love, but I haven't time nor postage to write each of you. I do thank you—so does Mary Sue—who has done a good job in the absence of Vera—as Vera would want her to do. Vera was an Emily Post, Betty Crocker, and Florence Nightingale all rolled into one—and Mary Sue is following in her footsteps. Your just thinking of me—cards—letters, candy and flowers were wonderful and a comfort to me. Thanks—and I pray God will bless you as He has me, and you don't ever have "shingles." That's what I believe old Job had. I pray I can have the patience he had. One lady friend came to see me during visit hours when I was asleep to tell me of her ailments—and her aunt who had "shingles" for three long months. I said, "Well, I'm glad she made it." "No—she didn't, she died." (Very comforting to me.)

Times Change. I read of Teddy Roosevelt—when President, asked Congress to offer a bonus for large families. Now, years later, we are doing the same thing with welfare checks. Then later with the population explosion, came Franklin D. Roosevelt, who thought we had to do of everything—He did, but we didn't, and through County Extension and power of federal government, caused us to shoot our cows (had too many and the cost of beef was to low), plow our cotton and put in feed crops (too much cotton and the price too low). I wonder with that way of thinking, what if he were president now—how about too many babies—population explosion. I presume he would set up abortion clinics—free—on tax payers.

A Spring Hill native had the shingles, and said he felt like he had been run through hell and whipped with the "sue rag". Another described it, saying it felt like he was giving birth to a litter of porcupines through his veins.

14.4 Million Persons on U.S. Welfare Rolls

By JOHN STOWELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's welfare rolls swelled in August for the first time in four months but total expenditures declined, the government announced today.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said about 14.4 million persons received cash payments, an increase of 138,000 persons—or 1 per cent—during August, the latest month for which statistics are available.

The rise nearly wipes out the cumulative 1.2-per-cent case-load decline during May, June and July, but represents a significant reversal of the average 2-per-cent monthly increase earlier in the year. Spending for all public assistance including Medicaid totaled $1.5 billion for August, a $15-million decrease from July, attributed primarily to smaller demands for medical care.

HEW's Social and Rehabilitation Service said 95,000 persons were added to the Aid for Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program in 42 states, the District of Columbia, Guam and the Virgin Islands.

New Jersey, which had dropped 108,000 AFDC recipients in July under tighter rules governing unemployed and employed parents, added 25,300 in August. Michigan, Illinois, Florida, Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas recorded increases of 5,000 to 9,500.

AFDC rolls shrank in eight states and Puerto Rico, including 3,900 in New York and 3,100 in California, which has reported a continuing decline since March, HEW said.

Another 4,000 persons were dropped nationwide from old-age relief because of Social Security raises first paid in June.

Increases were recorded in general assistance, up 35,000 or 3.6 per cent; aid to the disabled, up 12,000 or 1.1 per cent; and aid to the blind, up 200 or 2 per cent.

Millwood Resident Engineer Jim Cyrus informed the Star Thursday that Millwood Lake has risen 20 feet and is expected to go about two more feet following heavy rains in the Red and Little River basins.

He estimated that Millwood would top at about 277 feet above sea level. The highest level recorded was 282 feet in 1968. No water has been released from Millwood since last Friday.

Red River appears to have crested at Fulton. Most of the flood damage appears to be in Little River County, Bowie and Red River counties in Texas and McCurtain County in Oklahoma with some damage in Sevier County, Ark.

Mr. Cyrus said Red River at Fulton has reached 27 feet, the natural is 38 feet, thus a 11 foot rise was prevented. His figures reveal the real value of Millwood Reservoir in preventing disastrous flooding.

At Wright City the river reached 25.6 feet, the natural is 40.64, preventing an additional rise of 20.9 feet.

At Idabel the water reached 39.4 feet, the natural is 41.3, thus 1.9 feet was prevented.

The natural at Eagletown is 28.9 feet, the rise 8.7 feet which kept the river from rising 20.2 more feet.

An 8.3 foot additional rise was prevented at Horatio where the water reached 32.9 feet and the natural is 41.4 feet.

Man 105 and Woman 99 Married 82 Years

MANCHESTER, Ky. (AP) — Edd and Margaret Hollen have been married 82 years, seven months and 10 days.

Edd, 105, and Margaret, 99, of Bear Branch, were married in the Kentucky mountains on May 7, 1889.

According to the Guinness Book of World Records, the previous record for conventional marriages was 82 years and one day held by Frederick Burgess and Sarah Ann Gregory of London, England. She died June 22, 1965.

"I think the Lord has blessed us mightily well," said Mrs. Hollen. Their health is relatively good according to their 67-year-old son Carlo Hollen, with whom they live.

Both have lived most of their lives in Clay County except during World War I when Edd worked in an Ohio factory. He didn't remember where "I'm proudest of my children," Mrs. Hollen said. Six of nine children are still alive and the Hollens have 38 grandchildren and 60 great-grandchildren.

Said Edd of his wife: "Yes sir, she's been a good wife ... she's been all right."

Here is Mrs. Hollen's formula for a happy marriage: "If you serve the Lord, brother, and serve Him with all your heart, He'll find the way for you."

Two Weeks War Between India, Pakistan Ends

Bangla Desh Sends Mission to U.S.

By VERNON A. GUIDRY Jr.

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The infant nation of Bangla Desh has set up a hopeful diplomatic mission to the United States in makeshift offices above a fabric store in downtown Washington.

No national emblem marks the doorway, the elevator ride is shaky and the cellophane tape that tacks the new flag to the wall speaks of impermanence.

But the once and future diplomats who man the Bangla Desh mission look for the day when they will have an embassy to call home, signifying recognition as a nation by the United States.

M.R. Siddiqui, chief of the mission, scheduled a news conference today at which he is expected to appeal for recognition and aid for a war-torn population of 78 million.

Many members of the mission staff are Bengalis who were foreign service officers at the Pakistani Embassy here. They renounced their Pakistani citizenship and diplomatic status in August. Technically, they are stateless political refugees.

"The State Department has been very generous to us," said

Sams Kibria, political officer of the mission. Kibria, who also served as political officer at the Pakistani Embassy, said that all who renounced citizenship have been allowed to stay in the United States.

For Kibria and other members of the mission, the East Pakistan that fell Thursday to a victorious Indian army exists only as historical fact. To them, it is now Bangla Desh.

Kibria recalls a period of "tremendous strain" at the Pakistani Embassy as conditions in East Pakistan worsened.

"The ambassador and other West Pakistani officers looked upon us with suspicion. They didn't trust us," he said. "We were there by sufferance. We didn't know what would happen to us."

Thursday, Kibria reported happier problems—the dropoff of communication with the Bangla Desh Provisional Government that signified it was moving to the East Pakistani capital of Dacca, freshly taken by Indian troops from surrendering West Pakistani forces.

Congress Clears Way to Adjourn

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House completed action on a temporary foreign aid appropriation bill today and adjourned at 12:59 p.m. EST until Jan. 18.

The Senate was ready to follow suit shortly and wind up the lengthy first session of the 92nd Congress.

The last legislative act of the House was acceptance of Senate amendments to the foreign aid bill which the Senate had passed earlier in the day, 45 to 9. The bill keeps the foreign aid program in operation until Feb. 22 at a rate equal to $2.8 billion annually.

The question of foreign-aid funds had threatened to tie up adjournment until Thursday's surprise action by Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., to force a new House vote on the amendment requiring total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina within six months.

Taking advantage of a House rule, Ryan moved to force the House conferees to accept the amendment, offered by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

Rep. Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and of its foreign-aid conferees, moved to table and thus kill Ryan's motion, succeeding by the vote of 130 to 101.

As a result of the vote, Senate conferees suddenly dropped their demand that the House schedule a yes-or-no vote on the Mansfield amendment, and the foreign-aid conference met for the first time in 13 days.

Asked why the Senate conferees accepted the House vote as a conclusive one on the Mansfield amendment, Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., replied that Mansfield "said it was the closest we could get" to a direct vote.

Hempstead Leads in Wrecks in November

The Police Services Division in its monthly statistical review reported today that 58 persons died in traffic fatalities during the month of November. According to State Police figures, this is two fewer deaths than were recorded over the same period a year ago.

Captain Milton Mosier, District Commander of the Hope District for the Police Services Division said that 3 persons died during the month of November on Arkansas highways in the Hope District. Counties in the district recording deaths were Miller 2 and LaFayette 1. Clark, Hempstead, Howard, Little River, Nevada, Pike and Sevier were free of traffic fatalities during the reporting period.

Mosier said troopers in the 9 county area investigated 95 accidents. Hempstead County experienced the highest accident rate during November recording 20 accidents, followed by Nevada County with 18 accidents, Clark 17, Little River 13, Miller 10, Howard 7, Sevier 5, LaFayette 3 and Pike 2 accidents.

The report indicated that excessive speed was the leading contributing cause in the accidents, followed by driving on the wrong side of the road, failure to yield the right of way and driving while under the influence of alcohol. The 58 traffic deaths during November occurred in 53 fatal collisions. Statewide, troopers investigated 1,208 accidents during the month of November.

Mosier said there is one more holiday left this year, and motorists should be cautious as this time draws near.

The war between India and Pakistan ended today, with the new nation of Bangla Desh established in East Pakistan. In 14 days of fighting more than 2,000 Indian soldiers died, at least that many Pakistanis and uncounted civilians.

President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan of Pakistan accepted India's proposal for a cease-fire on the western front.

"I am accepting the Indian proposal for a cease-fire in the interest of peace and stability on the subcontinent," he said.

Yahya ordered Pakistani forces in West Pakistan to halt the fighting at 9:30 a.m., EST, the time set by India in a unilateral cease-fire. Only 24 hours earlier he had vowed to fight "until all occupied areas are taken back."

India announced the cease-fire Thursday after Pakistan's army had surrendered in East Pakistan, 1,000 miles from the western front.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi greeted Yahya's acceptance by saying: "I must be careful because I don't know yet whether it will be a full peace."

Official sources in New Delhi said India suffered more than 10,000 casualties in the war on both fronts—2,307 killed, 6,163 wounded, and 2,163 missing. Of these 1,021 were killed in the east and 1,286 in the west, they added.

There have been no figures on Pakistan losses, but the Indian Defense Ministry says Pakistan's losses are much higher than India's—and few doubt this.

The future of Yahya Khan's military government is in doubt. He had moved recently to transfer control to civilians, and this trend will gain impetus under such men as Zulfikar Ali Bhutto.

Lt. Gen. J. S. Aurora, who accepted Pakistan's surrender in Dacca, said his troops will remain in East Pakistan for a time to help repatriate war prisoners, re-establish law and order, and communications, and help with the return of Bengali refugees from India.

Henderson Jury Still Deliberating

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — The red-carpeted courtroom that has been the arena for the trial of Col. Oran K. Henderson since August has become the deliberations room for the jury that must decide whether he willfully concealed the My Lai massacre.

The second day of deliberations was to begin at 8:30 a.m. today.

It was the 62nd day of trial, equalling in length the court-martial earlier this year of another My Lai defendant, Lt. William L. Calley Jr. That trial, including 13 days of deliberations, was the longest in U.S. Army history.

Calley's conviction of 22 murders was the only guilty verdict in the five previous My Lai trials. Henderson is the highest ranking officer to be tried as a result of My Lai. His trial is the only one that has revolved around the alleged cover-up, rather than the attack itself.

The two generals and five colonels on the Henderson jury preceded their first session Thursday with a request for several documents in evidence and a rereading of the testimony given by Brig. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, a prosecution witness.

Two hours and 10 minutes later, when they adjourned for the day, the jurors looked tired, their notes made since the start of the trial stacked inch-high in front of them.

Col. Peter S. Wondolowski, the trial judge, slowly read 33 pages of instructions to the jury before deliberations began.

The issue is whether Henderson made "a genuine effort to discover the facts" about My Lai, Wondolowski said.

Henderson, 51, was commander of the 11th Brigade of the Americal Division on the day troops under his command attacked the South Vietnamese village, killing more than 100 men, women and children.

The Army charged Henderson was told what had occurred, even though he took no action, the action on the ground, and should have investigated. Henderson claimed he accepted a count of 128 Viet Cong and 20 to 25 civilian dead, and that he was misled by subordinates he questioned about a helicopter pilot's report of the killings.

Personal Income Shows Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — National personal income showed a moderate increase in November as the thaw from President Nixon's wage-price freeze began to take effect, a government report said today.

The Commerce Department said personal income increased by $3.5 billion compared with a $1-billion advance in October. The wage-price freeze expired Nov. 13.

Most of the November rise was in wage and salary payments, with a $1.5-billion gain in government wages and salaries a main feature of the increase. About two-thirds of the government pay step-up was attributed to the military pay raise approved by the Pay Board just as Nixon's Phase 2 program went into effect.

In the private sector, there was little evidence that the Phase 2 wage policies were contributing to a dramatic rise in payrolls after the freeze.

Manufacturing payrolls climbed by $500 million, dropping in half from the October rate.

But the manufacturing increase was attributed mainly to greater employment and a longer work week. Average hourly earnings were little changed from October, the department said.

Group Supports Gillham Dam

The Board of Directors of the Southwest Arkansas Planning and Development District, Inc., today, voted unanimously to support the construction of the Gillham dam on the Cossatot River.

Judge Ray Sikes, Board President further stated that all dispatch should be made to proceed with this construction. In view of the nine million dollars already invested, it is inconceivable that this vital project with its potential of economic development for this area of Southwest Arkansas not be continued.

Bandits Kill Policeman

MONTREAL (AP) — Bandits running from a crowded department store killed a policeman with a burst of machine-gun fire Thursday night as the officer was putting a ticket on a car parked in front of the store.

The three bandits escaped but dropped a sack containing the $50,000 payroll for the Simpson department store. Police said a fourth man may have driven a getaway car.

Constable Jean-Guy Sabourin, 32, was the second Montreal policeman killed in three months. Five others were wounded in the same period.

Arkla Keeps Pushing for Rate Hike

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. asked the state Public Service Commission Thursday to allow it to immediately put into effect higher industrial gas rates.

Arkla asked the PSC to order a 20 per cent rate increase because the utility says it cannot compete with other gas companies for new reserves.

Arkla had proposed a new rate schedule to cover its industrial customers early this fall and had asked to put it into effect immediately, subject to refund after hearings, but the PSC said the increase could not be granted until the Federal Power Commission granted Arkla's application to build a pipeline into the Anadarko Basin of Texas and Oklahoma.

The utility said the inability to increase rates had impaired Arkla's ability to compete for new natural gas supplies which have recently become available.

Arkla has asked that it be allowed to impose a rate of 32 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas.

Promised Loan for New Town

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jess P. Odom, president of Maumelle Land Development Co., said today that Liberty National Life Insurance Co. of Birmingham, Ala., has promised to loan $7.5 million for construction of Maumelle New Town near North Little Rock.

The financing will involve purchase by Liberty of $7.5 million in debentures from Maumelle over a three-year period. During that time, funds will be withdrawn from a trust account in the First National Bank of Little Rock for land preparation, construction of streets, installation of water and sewer lines, and development of five residential villages with a total of more than 14,000 dwelling units.

This construction was described by Odom as "the first hurdle" in development of a 5,400-acre tract used during World War II as the site of the Maumelle Ordnance Works.

The loan is the first to be made by a private concern to any of the nation's six new-town developments that will have loans underwritten and guaranteed by the federal Housing and Urban Development Department.

Improvements Recommended

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The governor's office said today that a team from the National Civil Service League that surveyed state personnel practices had made 21 recommendations for improvements.

The governor's office said the league was providing technical assistance to the staff of Gov. Dale Bumpers and state departments to implement the recommendations.

The team's report to Bumpers said adoption of the recommendations "will help the state of Arkansas find its place in the sun and become a leader instead of a follower in personnel practices."

Bumpers had asked for the survey in February and funds were made available for the project by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Bumpers' office said the governor already had implemented three of the league's recommendations by requiring all department heads to provide "aggressive leadership" in hiring disadvantaged persons to meaningful positions, asking each department head to designate a senior administrator as an equal employment opportunity officer, and employing Carl Agers as equal employment opportunity coordinator in the office of the governor and assigning an administrative assistant, Mrs. Irene Samuel, to work with Agers in implementing the program.

The Personnel Department is also conducting an ethic survey of employees in state government. The governor's office said the information from the survey would keep Bumpers informed of progress being made in employing the disadvantaged.

New Monetary Plan Sought

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Finance ministers of the 10 richest non-Communist nations gather here today to try to build a new system of money-exchange rates around the U.S. offer to devalue the dollar.

As the so-called "Group of Ten" prepared for a two-day meeting at Washington's oldest Smithsonian Institution building, optimism abounded that an interim system of currency-exchange rates could be worked out by the weekend.

If so, it would end the long-standing international monetary crisis in which world currencies have floated against each other without fixed rates of exchange.

President Nixon broke the stalemate earlier in the week when he announced, after a meeting with French President Georges Pompidou in the Azores, that the United States would be willing to devalue the dollar as part of general currency realignment.

Mikio Mizuta, the Japanese finance minister, told newsmen he sees a 50-50 chance for agreement on new currency values.

U.S. Treasury officials spoke optimistically of hopes for a settlement, as Secretary John B. Connally met privately on the eve of the talks with the finance ministers of Japan, Germany and the United Kingdom.

The new currency system would include a dollar devaluation ranging from 5 to 8 per cent and revaluations of the Japanese yen and the West German mark and other currencies. The French franc would remain unchanged.

What might result, U.S. sources said, is a temporary system of exchange rates that could be ratified by the International Monetary Fund and remain in effect until Congress takes formal action on dollar devaluation.

But the United States says it considers its offer to devalue the dollar contingent on moves by its allies to remove trade barriers to American products and to share in the cost of stationing troops in their countries.

As the monetary talks got under way, informal trade negotiations also were initiated. Trade officials from Canada met with U.S. officials from the State, Commerce and Treasury departments Thursday to discuss trade barriers.

Trade talks also are considered likely this weekend between the United States and officials from the Common Market and Japan.

May Expand Mental Health Program

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The director of the Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services said Thursday his agency was working on a plan for expanding the state's mental retardation program by taking advantage of more federal funds.

Dr. Roger Bost told the Arkansas Legislative Council that the object was to develop a balanced program utilizing the state children colonies, public schools and community-sponsored services. He said the program would take pressure off the children's colonies, which have a long list of applicants seeking admission.

He estimated for the legislators that plans now under consideration would generate a total of $8 million to $12 million or more during the next 12 months for mental health programs and other items, including Medicaid at the University of Arkansas Medical Center.

Bost said he did not know if legislative authorization was needed to take the steps necessary to attract the funds, but he guaranteed the council that Gov. Dale Bumpers would summon a special session of the General Assembly if one was required to give the authorization.

Bost said he would know within 30 days whether a special session would be needed. He said the state had not been doing a good job of attracting federal money. For instance, he said, more than $7 million of the $7.2 million budget for the colonies last year was state funds while, by contrast, in Oklahoma federal funds made up $5.4 million of a $9.6 million budget.

Bost also told the council that his department wanted to provide a new program for those who are retarded and are 18 years or older. He said almost half of the patients in the children's colonies fall in this category.

He said that under new criteria adopted by the state Health Board, the state will become eligible for about $1.5 million in federal funds for nursing home coverage for adult retarded 18 years old and older. But Bost said he could not approve "just putting them in nursing homes without providing them services." Alternatives, he said, might be privately operated institutions or supervised group living.

Bost said that if the federal government takes over more of the financial costs of providing mental health services, state dollars that are saved can be matched with more federal funds to provide $7.5 million for mental retardation and medical services in other programs.

Rumble From China Has Angry Sound

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special correspondent

In the backwash of the India-Pakistan conflict, the rumbling from Peking has an angry sound, as if the Red Chinese leaders were a bit frightened by their reading of the new situation.

The prospect seems to be for a new cold-war chapter involving a perilous three-cornered contest of the big powers for influence in the Orient.

From the sound of the Peking broadsides, Red China intends to give India little rest. It has been blasting the emerging Bangla Desh regime in East Pakistan as a bunch of puppets with the same sort of bitterness it has applied that epithet to South Vietnam.

The Chinese evidently are feeling frustrated in their claim to pre-eminence in decisions that shape Asia's destiny. With reason they seem to see the Russians as having strongly entrenched themselves in India and on the Indian Ocean.

The Chinese accuse the Russians of the sin they had been attributing, up to now, to the U.S. administration and the Nixon Doctrine. A Chinese statement says that the Soviet aim was to strengthen control over India and thereafter try to establish hegemony over all South Asia.

All this bodes ill for hopes of tranquility in Asia. The contest, if it was confused before, is even more so now.

Americans have lost much of whatever influence they might have had with the people and government of India because of the U.S. stand blaming New Delhi for the outbreak of the war.

It probably will be difficult to improve Indian-American relations.

Meanwhile, the United States shares with Red China what position is left, astride the Arabian Sea, in terms of influence with a dismembered Pakistan, now reduced to a state about the size of Texas with a population of less than 60 million.

The Russians may seem to have gained as of now. They do not need to have a physical presence to assert their influence in the Indian Ocean area. They have a friendly power in control of almost all the subcontinent, and that power, India, became virtually an ally by the recently signed Soviet-Indian treaty.

But the Russians may find their gains expensive. India has spent much she could not afford, on the war and on supporting 10 million Bengali refugees. She will need help replenishing her military expenditures and economic aid as well. In addition, the emerging new state of Bangla Desh will need big military and economic aid.

The Russians can find themselves saddled with costly clients. If Moscow could ill afford its economic and military support to a little island nation like Cuba, it is much less likely to welcome shouldering the burden of supporting a new, desperately poor agricultural nation of 78 million.

Even the most optimistic observer could hardly look at the Asian continent today, with all its confusion, all its trouble, all its population and its underdevelopment, without feeling that of all the areas of the world it is now becoming the most dangerous.

In the dining room a red tablecloth with bells, reindeer and trees covered the serving table. Tall red candles were used on the table, and punch and assorted Christmas cookies were served by the hostess assisted by Misses Reardon, Young and Branch. In addition to the members, Mrs. Daisy Atkins

Europe's Doll Connoisseur

Robert Capia, French doll expert, poses with a few of the "models" from his collection.

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS—(NEA)—Tucked away in one of the dusty galleries near the Palais Royal—once the haunt of fashionable Paris in the 1800s—is a small den which belongs to the world of dolls. Its owner, 35-year-old Robert Capia is the most widely known collector of dolls in Europe.

Other collectors and antique merchants from all over the world come to him confident they will find the object they are seeking.

Robert Capia explains that his passion for dolls started in 1944 when, at the age of 10, during a bombardment in Avignon where he was born, the family home was partially destroyed. Rooting around in the debris for his toy pistol, the only thing he found intact was a doll which had belonged to his mother.

When he came to Paris about 10 years ago he already had started a sizable collection. Since then he has spent his life buying and selling antique dolls and acquiring an encyclopedic knowledge on the subject. He is only interested in pre-World War I products.

The history of dolls goes back as far as the Pharaohs. Then they were made of precious metals. When Catherine de Medici came to Paris as Henry II's queen, she owned 16 dolls of all sizes, eight of which were dressed in deepest mourning.

"But the most precious and most beautifully made always was the French doll," explained Robert. "The first doll with a porcelain head appeared in 1844. It was known as the 'Jumeau' doll. A famous sculptor had been approached by Monsieur Jumeau to create a 'natural' face. He chose his twin daughters as models. The heads were made of delicately tinted porcelain, with glass eyes and pierced ears. Today they fetch from $1,000 to $2,000 each."

Next appeared a doll called the BRU. It brings even higher prices today than the "Jumeau" doll because it was the first and only doll to have a natural anatomy, complete with bosom. Also famous are the Steiners, who back even in the 19th century shed real tears, showed pearly teeth, had movable heads and said "Papa—Mamma." These are worth from $600 to $800.

The golden age of the French doll was the 19th century. Before that the body was covered in thin glove kid and the head made of papier mache.

In those days wealthy women would get their dressmakers to do complete trousseaux for their daughters' dolls. Celebrated couturiers like Worth, Redfern and Lanvin did not think it beneath them to create Lilliputian models. Accessories, such as jewels (real), handbags, gloves, shoes, corsets, hose, embroidered lingerie and even luggage were all signed by the big names. Even today well-known stylists in the haute couture come to delve in Robert Capia's treasure trove for ideas.

Littering his tiny shop, along with a whole lot of junk are more than 500 dolls of all sizes, ranging from six inches to the size of a 60-year-old. They are stacked on shelves, in boxes, hanging from the beams, along with a collection of furniture large enough to stock 50 doll's houses. He also has a collection of "voodoo" figurines and African, Chinese and Japanese dolls.

In the 10 years since he set up shop Robert Capia has met all sorts of strange people. One of his favorite anecdotes is that concerning an old lady who for three years running periodically stopped on the threshold of his shop and would ask: "You do buy antique dolls, do you not?" To which he would reply: "Certainly I do."

One day she appeared in deep mourning and asked the ritual question. Exasperated, Capia said: "Either you are mad or you have nothing to sell."

She then said: "Tomorrow you come to the following address at 7 p.m., walk up three flights and ring three times."

He went, rather hesitantly and almost lost his breath. In the large apartment she showed him several rooms filled with dolls of all sizes, complete with furnishings. There were even some stage

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — ABC's hard-riding pair who call themselves Smith and Jones each week win their struggle to stay within the law, but they continue to be losers in television.

"Alias Smith and Jones" has never really had a chance. Ever since the series made its midseason debut a year ago, its competition has been "The Flip Wilson Show," one of the most popular programs on the air.

It would be interesting to see how the light-hearted Western would do in some other time period. While the hour does bear a strong family resemblance to "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," it is not annoyingly imitative. Pete Duel and Ben Murphy are attractive and engaging leads. And the strongest element in the series is the scripts. Most often they start with a situation that is a cliché of the TV western, but then the story goes romping off in a direction all its own.

Thursday night's show was typical. Somebody robbed the Touchstone bank and the two ex-outlaws, Smith and Jones, were blamed. Into this familiar stew were mixed Ann Southern playing a Jolly 21 dealer in the local saloon, Jessica Walters playing the beautiful waitress in the local diner who was mixed up with the banker's no-good son-in-law. It worked out amusingly—without a shot being fired or a fist being clenched.

"Longstreet," which follows, was perking along nicely with its blind investigator solving a case a week until NBC wheeled its paraplegic detective, "Ironside," into the same time slot. The result, so far, is that "Longstreet" is taking a bit of a pasting in the ratings.

This new competition seems unfortunate from the viewpoint of the audience. "Longstreet" is a rather well done action show, extremely well acted by James Franciscus in the tricky title role of a sightless man. The stories are well conceived, the climaxes logical.

"Owen Marshall: Counselor-at-Law," which winds up ABC's Thursday night prime time, is an excellent courtroom series with Arthur Hill playing a calm, wise attorney in convincing style. Most of the scripts combine an investigation and a trial, and are several cuts above the usual programs of this type.

The hour, like the two that precede it, deserves more attention than it seems to be getting.

sets—a wedding, a christening, a confirmation, groups representing elegant women, all dressed by the best known creators. Here Capia found everything from a miniature table service of 47 pieces in precious Porcelaine de Paris, mirrors of all shapes and sizes, screens, wardrobes chock full of delicate lingerie as well as lace-trimmed table and bed linen. For years a dressmaker had come twice a week to keep this miniature world in perfect order.

The old lady was left alone in the world and rather than leave this astonishing collection to a museum, she had preferred to let Capia have it because she knew he would appreciate every item.

Are Teachers This Bad?

Dear Helen:
You wanted a new kind of problem, so here goes:

In our school system, teachers have "tenure." This means that after three years of employment, it would probably take the rape of the daughter of the board president to get a teacher fired. If a teacher is really rotten, he'll be transferred to another school—where he continues the same.

You wouldn't believe some of the stuff that goes on (and I know because I'm employed at one of the schools). It's against the law to physically harm a child, but the law doesn't cover the emotional beatings many take daily.

Out of some 400 teachers in our system, I'd say not more than ten are truly concerned with the welfare of our youth. Daily I see kids pushed around, put down, ignored, humiliated, made to wait for hours when a little help could set them straight in minutes.

One thing parents seldom know: there are "cliques" in each school, among the teachers. If a teacher can't make it with the "in" group, he or she may take it out on a student that came from the room of an "in" teacher. Many athletes get to play, not because they are best, but because the parents invite the right coaches and teachers to their cocktail parties.

When a teacher calls a child an idiot or dumbbell, the parents would like to complain but, if they do, the child suffers for it—with more bad treatment in class.

Some high school teachers see students as "groups," not individuals. There may be one class labeled "bad," but if three kids in it want to learn, they haven't a chance. After all, they're "the dumb kids." Weren't they placed there by a computer?

A final word to parents: when you send your kids off in the morning, many times they take more knocks sitting in a school room in one day than you do in a week at work. But they'll survive. WE did, and our education was no better. Both my husband and I got our educations after we graduated.

What do others think? —MIDWEST MATRON

Dear M.M.:

I don't think any school system is as bad as you've pictured it. Yes, there are flaws—and teachers who should never have been hired. This is true in all organizations. But the good outweighs the bad in most cases, even though the bad seems so much more apparent to the observer.

Let's allow my readers to take it from here.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

We live next door to a couple who have a little boy. My husband and I are younger, and have a baby daughter.

I have cared for their son on many occasions (he's a sweet child and I love him). Quite often I do small chores for the woman—roll her hair, go to the store for her, cook for her husband when she is away.

But unless she wants something, she often snubs me, as she has her own circle of friends and I'm not included. When I ask a favor, she's always busy. She never cared for my baby.

My husband and parents are wonderful and understanding people who would never want to hurt anyone. But even they say I'm being "used" and should start doing her as she does me. What do you think? —TIERED OF TRYING

DEAR TIERED:

Listen to your husband and parents. And prove them right by asking this neighbor to baby-sit for you. If she refuses—again—start practicing those three little words: "Sorry, I'm busy." They pay off with "users." —H.

Liberty Bowl May Show Defense of the Future

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — What could be the defense of the future in college football will be on display in the Liberty Bowl at Memphis Monday night.

The game matches Arkansas and Tennessee, both of which employ four down linemen with the noseman playing off the line of scrimmage like a third line-backer.

Tennessee has used the defense the past two seasons. Arkansas installed the scheme this spring after luring Buddy Bennett from Tennessee. The Vols led the Southeastern Conference in defense. Arkansas was the stingiest team in the Southwest Conference.

"You might see a wholesale change to this defense like is happening to the Wishbone on offense," Bennett said. "You can play both run and pass out of this alignment. It looks like the 5-2 with the noseman off the line of scrimmage. In the 5-2, if you want to play pass you have to go to the 4-3. Because we can play both the run and the pass from this defense, we get to work all the time in one defense."

Bennett said the Tennessee staff "kind of stumbled" onto the defense.

"We got it in and in the spring practice game the offense ran all over us just like they did here," Bennett said. "When we opened up against SMU, we played better than we thought we could."

Bennett said some of the defense was adopted from South Carolina, but that at Tennessee Lon Herzbrun played his line-backers differently.

"The scheme we had in the secondary was different," too," Bennett said. "We had three different ideas that just happened to fit perfect."

Bennett is familiar with the Vols' defense personnel, particularly linebacker Jackie Walker and safety Bobby Majors.

"They are great big-play people," Bennett said. "They are the super athletes that every ball club dreams about having. If everything else is equal, they're good enough to beat you."

Walker intercepted four passes and returned two of them for touchdowns. Majors picked off three passes and broke open several games with his kick returns.

In a 31-11 victory over unbeaten and nationally ranked Penn State, Majors returned two punts for 82 yards — including one for a touchdown — and took back two kickoffs a total of 113 yards.

"If you outkick your coverage, you're liable to be lining up to receive," Bennett said. "On pass defense, a great knack of reading quarterbacks ... thinking ahead of them. He seems to know where they're going to throw."

The Vols picked off 25 passes this year after intercepting 36 the year before under Bennett.

"I feel like this is their strong suit," he said. "They hope that you'll try to throw on them."

Arkansas quarterback Joe Ferguson should offer the Vols' secondary a major test. Ferguson, a junior, was named the top offensive player in the SWC after completing 160 of 271 passes for 2,203 yards.

"Speed and quickness is the strength of their defense," Bennett said. "And tradition."

"Nine of the Vols' 31 touchdowns this season were scored by the defense."

"The people over there recognize and appreciate the good defense that Tennessee has played since the days of Gen. Robert Neyland," Bennett said. "The defense gets more recognition than the offense. They stress it a little more than a lot of people."

"Take here in the southwest," Bennett said. "We were the leaders in the Southwest Conference and you didn't hear a lot about it. But, there is very little difference in our statistics and those of Tennessee. When we started in the spring, it looked like we weren't going to have much on defense. We've come a long way since then."

Bennett said he saw no weak spots in the Vols' defense.

"It will help because we're familiar with the defense," he said. "At least, we know what not to do."

Finds Playing Harder Is Key to Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
What can you say about a college basketball team that everyone thought had died?

"We knew we had to play harder after losing a star like Julius Erving," says Massachusetts Coach Jack Leaman, "and that's what we've been doing."

After losing their quality center to the pros this season, the Redmen have had to adjust their style to "playing more people, pressing and running more," according to Leaman.

The formula is working like a New England charm and Thursday night, the defending Yankee Conference champions turned back Manhattan 85-83 for their sixth victory this season and 12th straight regular season triumph over two years.

The contest was the first game of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden in New York. Columbia trimmed Rutgers 76-73 in the second game.

In other games Thursday night, Fordham defeated the City College of New York 90-71; Duquesne shelved Nevada-Reno 110-77; Western Kentucky slugged Butler 91-69; Louisiana Tech toppled Auburn 107-82; Purdue spanked Miami of Ohio 85-56, and Illinois turned back Georgia 84-78.

Massachusetts, which had a 23-4 mark last season and participated in the NIT, will be hard-put to match that mark this season, according to Leaman.

"Our biggest problem is rebounding ... we don't have any," said Leaman, whose biggest board man is 6-foot-3 Al Skinner.

But the small Redmen certainly don't have an inferiority complex about it. They battled the taller Jaspers on even rebounding terms Thursday night while Skinner murdered Manhattan from the foul line.

The bouncing forward, who had a game-high 13 rebounds, scored 25 points, including 17 of 19 charity throws. John Benacourt pitched in 24 for the winners, including two key foul shots with a minute to go.

One thing the Redmen couldn't do right was seal off Rich Garner, Manhattan's hot-headed little guard who had a game-high 32 points.

Foley Jones scored five key points with less than three minutes to go as underdog Columbia held off Rutgers in the closing minutes and won its first game of the season after five losses.

Nick Weatherston scored 28 points and Bill Morris had 22 as unbeaten Illinois stopped Georgia. John Fraley lead the losers with 25 points.

Louisiana Tech hit the 100-point mark for the fifth straight game in its victory over Auburn. Jim Jenkins had 24 points for the winners while Henry Harris paced Auburn with 17.

Sophomore Frank Kendrick's 24 points helped Purdue run away from Miami of Ohio and Lionel Billingsly and Ruben Montanez combined for 59 points to lead Duquesne over Nevada-Reno.

The Pistons Finally Find Spark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It took a public blast from the general manager and a team meeting, but the Detroit Pistons finally found the spark.

Detroit, led by guard Jimmy Walker's 34 points, rallied in the fourth period Thursday night to defeat the Cincinnati Royals 107-101. In the only other NBA game scheduled, the Golden State Warriors ripped the Philadelphia 76ers 113-93.

In the lone ABA game of the night, the Floridians used a balanced scoring attack and a 42-point third quarter outburst to rout the Pittsburgh Condors 129-103.

Earlier in the day, Detroit GM Edwin Coil blasted his players for not having their minds on the games of late. The Pistons had been languishing in last place in the Midwest Division of the NBA's Western Conference with an 11-18 record.

Before the home game against the Royals, Walker called a team meeting. After the players held their discussion, Coach Earl Lloyd lectured his charges.

All of which apparently produced instant results. Walker tossed in 15 points in the final period, including a pair of free throws midway through the quarter to put his team ahead for good. Burly pivotman Bob Lanier added 26 points and 19 rebounds for Detroit, while Tom Van Arsdale led the Royals with 20 points and John Mengelt added 16.

Cazzie Russell paced Golden State with 30 points, as the Warriors outscored the 76ers

Hogs Prepare to Meet Tennessee in Liberty Bowl

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks worked on their kicking game and on goal line offense and defense Thursday as they continued their preparation for Monday night's Liberty Bowl game against Tennessee.

Coach Frank Broyles said they would have to work on the same things today because about one-third of the players missed the practice due to final examinations.

Asked about the progress of quarterback Joe Ferguson, Broyles said, "It still pains him to throw."

Ferguson bruised his shoulder in the SMU game and his passing has been hampered since. Broyles pointed out, though, that the Razorbacks will have to establish their running game before thinking about passing.

The Porkers plan to travel to Memphis Saturday and Broyles said he hoped the team could practice Saturday night in the Memphis State University field house.

34-12 in the third quarter. Billy Cunningham and rookie Dave Wohl each scored 19 for Philadelphia.

Guard Mack Calvin paced the Floridians with 29 points, while five others hit for double figures. Al Tucker had 21, Ira Harge 16, Larry Jones 14, Warren Jabali 13 and Lonnie Wright 10.

Pittsburgh got high scoring from three players—George Carter, 29, John Brisker, 27 and George Thompson, 25—but nobody else could score more than six.

Protests Over Pro Games Christmas

NEW YORK (AP) — Two National Football League playoff games will be played on Christmas Day but mounting protests against the scheduling may cause the NFL to change future plans about setting games for that holiday.

The Minnesota Vikings, hosts for one of the Christmas Day games, said they had received many complaints both by phone and letter and that 5,800 of between 8,000 and 9,000 tickets offered for sale last Sunday, remain unsold.

And in Kansas City, the other Christmas Day host site, state legislator Tim Ryan said he would introduce a bill to ban any repetition of such scheduling in the future.

"More people have raised hell about the Chiefs' playoff game on Christmas Day than I've ever heard before," said Rep. Ryan. "I've heard a lot of comments like, 'if I go, my

Baylor Selects New Grid Coach

WACO, Tex. (AP) — "I feel there is opportunity and potential at Baylor University and I feel that I can succeed," said Rudy Feldman, new head football coach for Baylor.

He was hired Thursday as successor to Bill Beall, whose contract was terminated after a third dismal season.

Feldman, who has been head coach at the University of New Mexico, said Baylor's administration has "assured me of its full support and that is what is needed to make a winner."

His New Mexico team finished second behind Oklahoma as the nation's top offensive unit the past season. The 39-year-old UCLA graduate posted a 17-12-2 record at New Mexico for three seasons and his club was runnerup for the Western Athletic Conference title the past two years.

A native of Palo Alto, Calif., Feldman lettered three years as guard for UCLA and was co-captain of the 1953 Rose Bowl team.

He began his coaching career at Ft. Hood as player-coach in 1954. Feldman became head coach the next season as the Tankers made a second straight appearance in the Shrimp Bowl at Galveston.

Feldman joined coach Jim Meyers staff at Iowa State in 1957 and in 1958 moved to Oklahoma, where he was assistant under coach Bud Wilkinson as the Sooners went to the Orange Bowl twice and won three Big Eight championships.

In 1963, Feldman accompanied new head coach Eddie Crowder to Colorado, where he was defensive coordinator five seasons. The Colorado Buffs went to the Bluebonnet Bowl in 1967.

Feldman's New Mexico team this year averaged 468.1 yards total offense per game to rank second behind Oklahoma. The Lobos averaged 384.5 yards per game rushing, also next behind the Sooners as best in the nation.

"We are tremendously pleased that coach Feldman is coming to Baylor, where we think there is so much opportunity, athletics director Jack Patterson said. "The entire Baylor family welcomes him."

Feldman, a six-footer who weighs 190, is the father of three children—Kirk 14, Kent, 10 and Lisa, 7.

Figures Dallas Will Keep on Rolling

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — San Francisco and Los Angeles both will win Sunday, but the Rams will be losers nevertheless.

That's the word from here, with the 49ers picked to beat Detroit and the Rams picked to beat Pittsburgh in season-ending games that will determine the National Conference West champion and the final berth in the playoffs.

That's how the Rams will come up losers. If the 49ers win, they're in the playoffs, no matter what Los Angeles does.

Also to be decided this weekend are the AFC and NFC East champions, although the front-runners and the runners-up in both divisions already have qualified for the playoffs. The way it looks from here Baltimore will be atop the AFC East and Dallas the NFC East, leaving Miami and Washington in the runner-up spots.

Here are all the picks, noting that last week's record was 9-4: Dallas 41, St. Louis 17—Roger Staubach has the Cowboys' offense rolling over everyone, and the Cardinals are one of the better candidates for that kind of onslaught. The game is scheduled for Saturday and national telecasting, CBS at 4 p.m., EST.

Washington 27, Cleveland 17—A Dallas loss coupled with a Washington victory or tie against the AFC Central champions would give the Redskins the NFC East title. Larry Brown of the Redskins needs 133 yards to repeat as a 1,000-yard rusher.

San Francisco 24, Detroit 21—this could be a rough one for the 49ers with the Lions looking to maul someone after failing to make the playoffs. But San Francisco should be able to get the job done on the ground behind Ken Willard and Vic Washington.

Los Angeles 27, Pittsburgh 20—The Rams may be down after their loss to the Redskins Monday night, but they know they have to win to maintain a shot at the title and the playoff berth. Figure Roman Gabriel for a better performance than against Washington.

Baltimore 27, New England 14—Defending Super Bowl champion Colts shooting to clobber AFC East title after beating Miami to take over lead Patriots wouldn't appear to offer too much opposition, although Jim Plunkett has proved he can be dangerous.

Miami 24, Green Bay 10—Packers have John Brockington and not much else. The Dolphins still can take AFC East title if they win and Colts lose. Either way, they'll be out to win.

Minnesota 28, Chicago 7—It shouldn't be forgotten that the Bears beat the Vikings the first time they met. But it doesn't figure to happen again. Kansas City 42, Buffalo 14—An opportunity for the Chiefs in general, and the Len Dawson to Otis Taylor passing combination in particular, to warm up for post-season action.

Oakland 24, Denver 20—The Raiders have to be down after being eliminated from playoff contention, but they are the stronger team and Broncos' only weapon is Floyd Little.

Atlanta 27, New Orleans 24—Archie Manning may return at quarterback for the Saints, but the Falcons have the NFC's top-rated pass defense.

Philadelphia 21, New York Giants 20—The Eagles have put together a 5-2-1 record since beating the Giants earlier and there doesn't appear to be any reason they can't whip 'em again.

San Diego 35, Houston 17—The Chargers have the AFC's No. 1 offense and John Hadl should have a good day against the Oilers. Hadl's 21 TD passes leads the NFL.

New York Jets 24, Cincinnati 17—Joe Namath and running back John Riggins should provide enough offense to give the Jets the nod over the Bengals.

Kentucky State Forward Leads in NCAA Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Travis Grant, Kentucky State's 6-foot-8 Little All-American forward who has earned the nickname "The Machine" for his outstanding shooting ability, heads the list of NCAA College Division scoring leaders released today with a whopping 49.0 points-per-game average.

Grant, who along with 7-foot pivotman Elmore Smith led the Thorobreds to the NAIA championship last season, scored 56 points against Calvary and 42 against Tennessee Wesleyan. Kentucky State, 3-0 through Saturday Dec. 11, is ranked first in this week's Associated Press College Division poll.

Grant, who is ninth in field goal percentage with .683, scored 35.3 and 31.2 points per game the past two seasons. He was the national field goal percentage leader in 1969-70 with a .761 mark and was sixth last year at .648.

Trailing Grant in the scoring race is Dana Wilson of Huston, who has a 41.8 average after four games. Third is Ed Czerknota of Sacred Heart at 36.5 and fourth is Willie Stoudamire of Portland State at 33.8.

Last year's scoring champ, Dwight Lamar of Southwestern Louisiana, now leads major-college scorers with a 34.8 average. Southwestern Louisiana is one of nine schools to switch to major college status.

Liberty Bowl Foes Facing Problems

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Only four more days remain before Tennessee and Arkansas meet in the 13th annual Liberty Bowl—and the Vols are working to get used to playing on real grass.

Only twice before this season has Tennessee played on grass—once in Memphis and once in Kentucky.

Coach Bill Battle worked his players out Thursday at Memphis State's practice field and said they looked a little slow on the natural turf.

The practice concentrated on passing, with quarterback Jim Maxwell firing to several receivers.

George Hunt also worked hard, booting field goals from various angles.

Arkansas will be facing the same problem, and hasn't been able to get in practice on grass as much as Tennessee.

The Razorbacks played only one game on real grass this season, and their workouts this week in Fayetteville, Ark., have been held on artificial turf because of wet grounds. They arrive in Memphis Saturday.

Tom Bennett of the Volunteers was injured in practice Wednesday, and Thursday doctors diagnosed it as a severe sprain and said it is unlikely he will play in the bowl.

Finals Sat. at Emmet

In the Senior Invitational Tournament at Emmet, the following teams advanced to the finals. Blevins won over McNeil, 62-56; Cale over Emmet, 84-44. Undefeated Blevins will meet Cale, with only one loss, in the Senior Boys Finals on Saturday night.

In the Senior Girls' Division, McNeil defeated Okolona 48-23, and Cale won over Emmet 57-47. McNeil and Cale will meet in the Seniors Girls' Finals at 7 p.m. on Saturday, followed by the Senior Boys Finals.

Wolves Defeat Hope Jr. Teams

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer
There must be some kind of a jinx on the Hope Kittycats—that is as far as playing the Prescott Cubettes. Three times the two teams have met and three times the Kittycats have gone down in defeat.

After playing a fine first half and taking a 22-14 lead into the dressing, Hope experienced shooting problems in the second half and suffered a final 43-33 loss, lowering their record to 5-4, three of these losses to Prescott.

A quick basket by Pogo Griffin gave the Kittycats an early lead, but seconds later a see-saw of the score started for the next few minutes until Gail East hit two quick field goals to give Hope an 8-5 margin with 2:15 left in the first quarter. Five straight points by Griffin and a field goal by Sue Henley with 11 seconds left gave the Kittycats a 15-7 lead, moving into the second period.

Playing on even terms during the second quarter, both teams scored seven points each, Hope getting most of them on free shots from the foul line, and taking a halftime, 22-14, margin to the dressing room.

Back out for the second half of play, the Kittycats quickly lost the tipoff and the lead, as Prescott edged out to a 23-22 margin with four minutes left in the period. However, Hope regained the lead for a while on the shooting of an East field goal and a charity throw by Griffin.

With 1:55 left in the period and the score knotted at 26 all, Cubette Sue Campbell led her team to the lead for good as she hit two baskets and when the stanza was over, Hope went into the last quarter, trailing 32-27.

Trailing now, the Kittycats hit late game trouble as they could only manage six points in the last period while giving Prescott numerous points on foul shots. East led the Kittycats with 17 points with Griffen getting 14 and Henley hitting 20. Credit goes to guards Janie York, Melissa Reece, and Bonnie Roy for a fine defensive game.

Minutes later, into the second game, the Bobkittens played score changing through almost the whole game, before finally coming out on the short end of a 40-34 final.

Hope took the ball first and immediately scored on a Marshall Scott field goal, but after getting as much as a three point lead halfway through the first part, had to settle for an 11 all tie and then only after Jim Rhodes sank a free throw with three seconds left in the quarter.

Falling quickly behind by three points this time, the Kittycats caught up on a free throw by Rhodes and a jumper by Scott to knot the score at 14 all with 4:55 left in the first half. Four straight charity shots by Johnny Harris helped the cause, but the Curley Cub shooting was going strong also, and only after Mike Hobson hit a two-point with less than 45 seconds left did the Kittens take a 22-20 halftime margin to the

Tech Player Is All-American

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Rick Thone of Arkansas Tech has been named to the first team of the 1971 All-America football team of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

It was announced today that Thone had been named as one of two ends on the offensive unit.

Jerry Cook of Harding, Ark., was named as guard.

Another Arkansas Tech player, Perry Goodell, was named to the defensive second team as a guard.

about the new breed of football player.

"I don't like some who are around now who want more money for running kicks back or other things," he said. "They don't understand what the game is and what it means. You can't get them to do anything extra."

He talks about wanting to go to law school after football, but admits, "As long as I feel I can play, it'll be pretty tough not to."

And when Little talks about reaching 1,000 yards or about new coach Jerry Smith or some of his teammates, you get the feeling he's anything but disillusioned.

Little is aglow when speaking of interim coach Smith, who has guided the Broncos to a 2-2 mark since assuming the reins.

Champ of Light Heavyweights to be Decided

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The issue of who should rightly wear the light heavyweight boxing crown should be settled soon — possibly within the next two months—declared Bob Foster and his manager here Thursday night after Foster had disposed of Brian Kelly with a technical knockout in the third round.

"I'm ready for Rondon," Foster beamed after the fight in which he dazzled Kelly with a flurry of punches—sending him to the canvas three times.

Foster referred to Vincente Rondon of Venezuela, who is recognized as champ by the World Boxing Association. Foster, stripped of his title by the WBA for failing to meet the then-top challenger, Bobby Dupree, is recognized in several states including New York.

Lou Viscusi, Foster's manager, was contacted after the fight and disclosed that Florida promoters are trying to arrange a bout with Rondon for sometime in late January or February.

Foster had an easy time of it Thursday night against Kelly, who was ranked No. 7 by Ring Magazine and No. 10 by the WBA. It was Foster's 39th knockout in 46 victories. He has five losses to heavyweights.

After a first round which featured little action, Foster went to work, knocking down Kelly twice in the second round then burying the challenger with a bevy of assorted punches in the third round.

Foster caught Kelly, a Cushing, Okla., youth director, with a blazing left hook that sent him down for the third time with 1:56 gone in the third round and referee Bob Earle stopped the fight.

Bruins Blast

Rangers, Move

Up in NHL East

By DAVE O'HARA

Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston

Bruins went out to prove themselves, and what a lesson they gave the proud New York

Rangers.

Hitting a season peak, while hitting every New York uniform in sight, the Bruins scored four first-period goals and went on to an 8-1 victory Thursday night in climbing to within three points of the Rangers in the National Hockey League

East.

"This just has to be our best over-all game of the year,"

Boston Coach Tom Johnson said. "There was no holding our guys back tonight. It didn't make any difference who I put out there. We had a lot of fellows who played very well."

"There's a long way to go, but this had to be our biggest game of the season," said Ken

Hodge, who was ejected for stepping into a second period brawl. "The Rangers had pulled too far in front and we had to win. If they won, they're seven points up and that just couldn't happen."

Marinaro Named Maxwell Club's Player of Year

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —

Cornell's Ed Marinaro may have missed his calling. Instead of a football player or the hotel management executive he's studying to be, he could be a comedian.

The 215-pound Marinaro

broke up the news conference called to announce his selection as the Maxwell Club's 25th annuual outstanding college football player of the year. Pat Sullivan, Auburn quarterback who edged Marinaro for the Heisman trophy, was second in the Maxwell balloting.

The Maxwell Club also selected Robert Stauback, Dallas

Cowboys quarterback, as recipient of its Bert Bell award as the outstanding pro player of 1971. Miami's Bob Griese was second.

Someone asked Marinaro about reaction to his blast at the Heisman Trophy Committee for selecting its outstanding player. before the season ended.

"Most of the reaction was negative from the south, so in keeping with their opinion of me I'd like to congratulate you on your choice," Marinaro said.

"I hear you're coaching the basketball team," said one wag.

"Only on game days," reported the back who led the nation with an average of 214.7

yards per game last season.

Did he expect to carry the ball an average of 39.6 times per game the way he did for Cornell?

"You ain't seen nothing yet," responded Marinaro, adding that he wants to play pro ball and expects to be drafted in the first round of the National Football League draft.

Does he have an agent to negotiate for him with the pros?

"I've talked to Howard Cosell about representing me," said

Marinaro.

"Do you have any choice for a pro team?"

"Yeh, the Bridgeport Bulls.

Oh, I guess I'd like to stay in

New York, but I'll be happy anywhere."

Which award did he think was the more important, Heisman or Maxwell?

"The Maxwell, because I won

it."

Was he slowed down off artificial turf?

"Nothing can slow me down."

Did he have any other observations?

"Yeh, don't misquote me."

Jean Ratelle, Vic Hadfield and

Rod Gilbert.

The Esposito line, which set an NHL record of 336 points

last season, was being overshadowed this year by the Ratelle line, which accounted for 143 points in New York's first

29 games. Esposito & Co. took care of that in short order.

Esposito won a face-off and fed Bobby Orr for a power play goal just 1:47 after the opening face-off. Esposito then scored his 24th goal before assisting on tallies by Dallas Smith and Hodge.

Today's hand or a similar one will be found in every book on play and in all bridge columns.

South finds himself in a comfortable three no-trump contract. He puts his ace of spades on East's queen. If he is in a hurry he leads his jack of clubs and tries a finesse. East grabs his king and leads a spade and South is one down before he can say, "Jack Robinson."

He will probably complain about bad luck and point out that with both finesses right he could have made all 13 tricks. He will remark, "Finesses never work for me."

If the game were duplicate it would turn out that they didn't work at any other table, but that the other declarers had made their contracts.

If South stops to think about the hand he will see that he can't afford to let East gain the lead and that he can collect nine tricks without setting up clubs.

Send $1 for JACOBY MODERN book to: "Win at Bridge," c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Then he will lead a heart to dummy and play the jack of diamonds.

West will take his king and may try to run spades in which case South will score his jack. If West leads a club South will go up with dummy's ace and settle for making exactly three no-trump.

A—Bid four spades. Your partner only responded one spade to your double.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of jumping to three spades, your partner has jumped to four spades over your two hearts. What do you do now?

Proposed Budget of Expenditures together with Tax Levy for Fiscal Year Beginning July 1, 1973 to and including June 30, 1974

The Board of Directors of Spring Hill School District No. 10 of Hempstead County, Arkansas, in compliance with the requirements of Act 403 of 1951 and of Amendment 40 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, have prepared, approved, and hereby make public the proposed budget of expenditures together with the tax rate as follows:

Teachers' salaries $84,500.00
General Control $500.00
Instructional Cost (Operating Fund) $1,000.00
Transportation $8,200.00
Operation of Plant $7,500.00
Maintenance of Plant $2,000.00
Fixed Charges $6,500.00
Non Bonded Debt $3,720.00
Capital Outlay $1,500.00
Debt Service $0

To provide for the foregoing proposed budget of expenditures the Board of Directors proposed a tax levy of 45 mills. This total tax levy includes 45 mills for maintenance and operation. Five (5) mills of the 45 mills represents a proposed millage increase to the present 40 mills previously voted for the maintenance and operation of the district.

Given this 14th day of December, 1971.

WORLD ALMANAC

FACTS

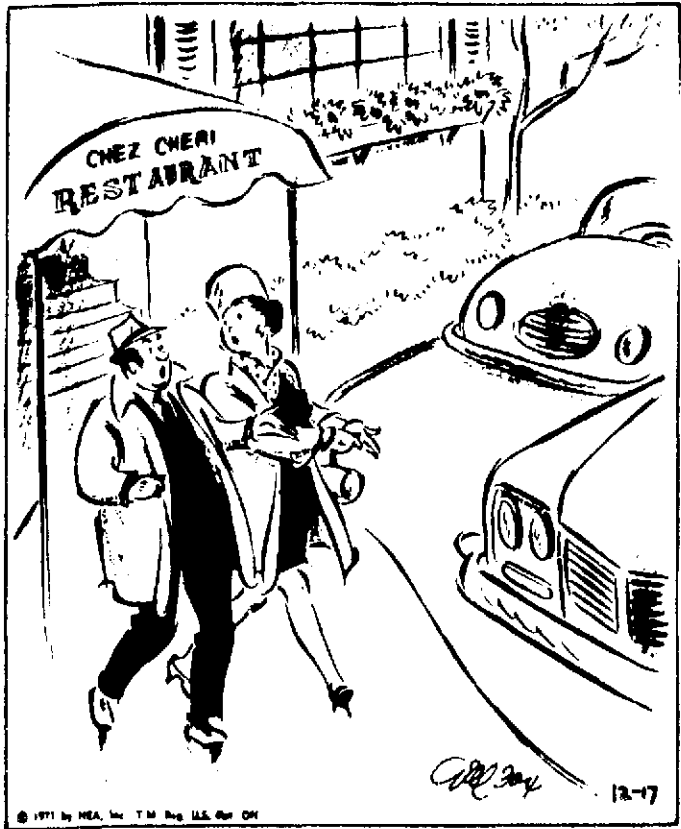

Mardi Gras, the French name for Shrove Tuesday, is the last day before the fasting season of Lent. The World Almanac says that in various countries the day is celebrated by spectacular parades, street dancing and masked balls. The most colorful carnivals are held in New Orleans, Rio de Janeiro, Cologne and Nice.

Don't Worry About Real Yule Meaning

By MARC CHARNEY
Associated Press Writer
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Are you worried that all the buying and lavish gift-giving are taking the real meaning out of Christmas? Then don't be, advises Timothy Lull, a young theologian teaching at Yale.

Actually, he says, immoderate giving is one of the things Christmas is all about. "Part of the meaning is that we always do too much." In fact, that's how it was when Christmas first happened he notes. "Everyone who really understands what's happening overdoes it—angels sing all night long, shepherds run away from their sheep, wise men leave their studies, animals keep silence, God loves men beyond what they deserve. And we give things to each other."

"This is our way of joining in the madness of giving and loving beyond the range of what common sense can ever understand," he writes in "The Lutheran," a weekly published by the Lutheran Church in America.

Lull, 28, has taught a semester of theology at the Yale Divinity School, is working on his doctoral dissertation, and anticipates a life of teaching theology and being a parish pastor.

"It's not that I'm delighted with the commercialism of Christmas," he said in a conversation at his home. "But I don't see why you should pick on Christmas particularly. Life is so commercialized now anyway."

way. "The message is one of joy, of happiness, of mankind getting more than it expected. A far greater danger than doing too much is making the observance too difficult to understand."

He says he's a supporter of trends within the church that make it respond to social issues like peace and justice, but he doesn't want that to produce so much integrity that people lose the Christmas joy of giving.

"There are so many things in society that are bad and need reforming," he says. "You get in a frame of mind where you think maybe everything needs reforming. But there are a few things that are all right as they are and it occurs to me that maybe Christmas may be one of them."

Modern men, he said, judge people on merit and that's a good thing. But, he added, we are "so caught up in judging people on merit we can't believe we can get something more than we deserve."

And that, he says, is exactly the message of Yuletide. The birth of Christ, he says, is a gift to man from God. "It's not expected. It's not deserved."

And the message is that "the evils are there, but they're not final. They don't have the last say. Those wonderful and distant promises that once were made may really be kept."

So, he says in the article, "let merchants stock their stores full; in the end our gifts are only shadows of The Gift."

"Let advertising men use their persuasive powers on us; in the end we buy for others, because He first loved us. Let humorless dictators prescribe a wholly secular Christmas; their powers creep and fade, but Christ's story continues to be whispered among old people and children."

"There is no need to put Christ back in Christmas. He has always been there. He has never been in any danger. He can take care of himself."

THOUGHTS

We may elevate ourselves but we should never reach so high that we would ever forget those who helped us get there.—Will Rogers, humorist.

Praise a man for what he does well, then gradually help him with his shortcomings.—Dale Carnegie, biographer.

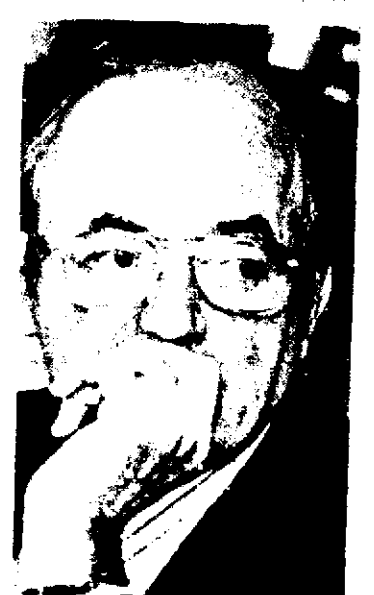

I studied the lives of great men and famous women; and I found that the men and women who got to the top were those who did the job they had in hand, with everything they had of energy and enthusiasm and hard work.—Harry S. Truman.

"It is you, O king, who have grown and become strong. Your greatness has grown and reaches to heaven, and your dominion to the ends of the earth."—Daniel 4:22.

Happy is the man who finds wisdom, and the man who gets understanding, for the gain from it is better than gain from silver and its profit better than gold.—Proverbs 3:13, 14.

What you say and what you do must be one.—Chiang Kai-shek.

An appalling and horrible thing has happened in the land: the prophets prophesy falsely, and the priests rule at their direction; my people love to have it so, but what will you do when the end comes?—Jeremiah 5:30, 31.

NEW LOOK for an old pro, mildly, mod spectacles lend an appropriately scholarly appearance to Hubert Humphrey, who waited out the brief period between his losing campaign for the presidency and his winning campaign to return to the Senate as college lecturer.

King of Kings

And there is no finer name for the Great Teacher. He speaks and His words come with authority. There is no court to refer His words for judgement... for He is the judgement. He has blessed mankind so richly that we have sought other words to do Him honor; the Great Physician, Shepherd of Souls and Lord of Life. But Handel's Messiah keeps ringing in our ears... "King of Kings and Lord of lords. And He shall reign forever and ever." Isaiah looked forward to the coming of this "Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace."

The artist has done us a service in the picture. Christ is destined to reign over His people, over His church, over His world. His throne was a cross spelling sacrifice. His vehicle is the church and His army a company of devout followers. His dominance is within the hearts of men and His forces are Truth, and Goodness and Love. He will triumph through our loyalty and devotion. They stop where you are! Is He regnant in your heart? He is looking to His church, imperfect as it may be, to bring in His Kingdom and to save the world. Won't you join His army, His church today... for He is the King of Kings.

You In The Church
The Church In You

— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

So They May See - Proverbs 3:1-16 - So They May Hear

MY SON, FORGET NOT my law; but let thine heart keep my commandments:
2. For length of days, and long life, and peace, shall they add to thee.

3. Let not mercy and truth forsake thee: bind them about thy neck; write them upon the table of thine heart;

4. So shalt thou find favour and good understanding in the sight of God and man.

5. Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding.

6. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths.

7. Be not wise in thine own eyes: fear the Lord, and depart from evil.

8. It shall be health to thy navel, and marrow to thy bones.

HONOUR THE LORD with thy substance, and with the firstfruits of all thine increase:

10. So shall thy barns be filled with plenty, and thy presses shall burst out with new wine.

11. My son, despise not the chastening of the Lord; neither be weary of his correction:

12. For whom the Lord loveth he correcteth; even as a father the son in whom he delighteth.

13. Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding.

14. For the merchandise of it is better than the merchandise of silver, and the gain thereof than fine gold.

15. She is more precious than rubies: and all the things thou canst desire are not to be compared unto her.

16. Length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand riches and honour.

Congressional Snarl May Hold Back Pay Raises

By JERRY BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Employees of at least one federal agency face the prospect of paycheck reductions before Christmas because of a congressional snarl over appropriations.

Officials indicated Thursday some 1,300 employees of Action, the new agency combining the Peace Corps, VISTA and smaller volunteer programs, will receive paychecks next Tuesday minus two days' pay. They said the shortage probably will not be made up until after Christmas.

The problem is that stopgap financing of the agency expired Dec. 8 and the House and Senate have been unable so far to agree on continuing legislation. Pay for the two-week period ending Dec. 10 is due Tuesday, but there is no legal authority to pay for the last two days of the period.

The Agency for International Development, which administers foreign aid, and the Office of Economic Development, which administers antipoverty programs, are in a similar bind but have not yet said paychecks will be cut.

While the Defense Department's appropriation has cleared Congress, it has not yet been signed. Pentagon spokesmen said, however, they anticipate no difficulty in meeting the huge Defense payroll.

In other economic developments:

—The American Medical Association criticized a Price Commission requirement that physicians secure advance approval before increasing fees by more than 2.5 per cent. The AMA said such guidelines "appear to single out health care providers for some regulatory controls that are not applied to other providers of services."

—A federal judge in Wilmington, Del., issued a temporary restraining order against a rent increase planned by a Wilmington apartment complex, saying the proposal "in all likelihood" violates Phase 2 guidelines.

—The Pay Board announced

it has established certain exceptions to the rule that wages may not rise more than 5.5 per cent a year, but will not announce details of the new ruling until today. The board also planned to announce today details of a ruling covering executive pay and said it has agreed to review at a later date the subject of merit pay.

—Secretary of Housing George Romney said new housing starts in November equalled an annual rate of 2.3 million, indicating it will top the 1.9 million new starts in 1970. Romney said the housing starts are "a powerful indication of the strength of our nation's economy." In the five years before that, he said, the industry had a high point in 1968 of just over 1.5 million units.

—The Price Commission approved an 8 per cent increase for steel products made by National Steel Corp., a 4.8 per cent increase for Kaiser Steel Corp. tin mill products and a 2.74 per cent across-the-board increase on all Bethlehem Steel Corp. products.

Fighting Is Triggered in Cambodia

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Two South Vietnamese offensives triggered fighting in Cambodia and Vietnam Thursday, including the first major battle of the drive into the Chup rubber plantation in eastern Cambodia. A total of 61 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and 11 South Vietnamese were reported killed.

Paratroopers and rangers pushing along the southern edge of the 75-square-mile plantation killed 47 North Vietnamese with the help of U.S. air strikes, the South Vietnamese command reported.

South Vietnamese losses were seven men killed and 17 wounded, spokesmen said.

The drive into Chup is the deepest penetration South Vietnamese forces have made into eastern Cambodia since heavy fighting erupted in the plantation last February. Chup is 35 miles from the border and 110 miles northwest of Saigon.

About 6,000 troops and more than 100 armored vehicles are sweeping through the plantation in an operation launched Monday to destroy North Vietnamese staging areas.

The push is part of a 25,000-man campaign begun Nov. 22 to keep North Vietnamese troops out of South Vietnam and disrupt their supply lines.

Two hundred miles to the south, infantrymen battled North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in the U Minh forest of South Vietnam's Mekong delta. They reported killing 14 of the enemy and said four of their own men were killed and 10 were wounded.

The 25,000-man operation in the U Minh forest is aimed at eliminating the last major Communist stronghold in the delta.

Denies Favoring LR Facility

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. George W. Jackson, superintendent of the State Hospital, denied Thursday that he was more "oriented" toward the hospital's Little Rock facility than the Benton unit.

Jackson told a meeting of the Committee on Charitable, Penal and Correction Institutions of the Arkansas Legislative Council that care of patients at the Benton unit was equal to that of the Little Rock hospital.

Jackson appeared before the committee to answer questions of legislators who said the Benton unit had fewer employees than the Little Rock facility despite a greater patient load.

Jackson presented statistics to the committee that showed the Little Rock unit treated more mentally ill persons, but that on a given day the patient load at Benton might be more because of the Little Rock facility's higher turnover rate. He said the average length of stay at Little Rock was 49 days compared to 429 at Benton.

He said the patients at the Benton unit did not require as many physicians, psychiatrists and employees to maintain them.

John Haley of Little Rock, chairman of the state Board of Correction, also appeared before the committee to discuss proposals to create an industry training program at the penitentiary and to build a women's reformatory at Camp Robinson in North Little Rock.

He also reported to the committee the board's request that Gov. Dale Bumpers transfer $386,000 from the inmate care and custody fund of his emergency fund to the penitentiary for maintenance and operation. Haley said problems at the penitentiary had increased because the inmate population had risen by about 300 persons in the last year.

He said the board would appear at the committee's meeting next month to explain why it wanted to spend the $386,000.

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — British tennis star Ann Jones, 1969 Wimbledon champion, gave birth to a girl in Birmingham Maternity Hospital early today.

It was her first child, and weighed 8 pounds, 10 ounces. A hospital spokesman said mother and daughter were "very well."

Montgomery and Eley Named to Committee

Ralph Montgomery and Glen D. Eley, well-known Hempstead County farmers were named to the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee by delegates to the ASC county convention, held in the Federal Building in Hope.

The delegates also selected Ralph Montgomery and H. B. Gilbert as chairman and vice-chairman of the three-member County Committee, and names Brooks Collins and Bill Schooley as first and second alternate committeemen.

Mr. Montgomery owns and operates a livestock and poultry farm three miles north of Hope. Mr. Eley owns and operates a livestock farm near Belton, and Mr. Gilbert owns and operates a livestock farm in the Cross Roads community. Mr. Collins owns and operates a livestock and poultry farm at Spring Hill and Mr. Schooley owns and operates a livestock farm in the Hope Community. He also, grows soybeans, hay, and feed grains on his farm.

The County ASC Committee is responsible for local administration of Government farm programs such as acreage allotments, loans for eligible crops, and conservation cost-sharing on agricultural lands.

The vacancies were filled and the County ASC Committee officers named by delegates who are newly-elected ASC committeemen for 1972. Community committees assist the County Committee in farm program administration and help keep farmers informed of program provisions.

County committeemen are elected by the community committeemen to serve staggered three-year terms, so that ordinarily one vacancy occurs each year. The county committee alternates are elected for one-year terms.

The newly county and community committeemen take office January 1, 1972.

Freed Captive Said Life Not Too Bad

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mary Ann Harbert, the pert, 25-year-old secretary held by the Communist Chinese for 3½ years, says life in China's countryside was not too unpleasant after the first year of captivity.

Miss Harbert said Thursday that she lived in a small farmhouse in a rural commune, raised pets and had a vegetable garden.

To pass the time Miss Harbert played badminton, Ping Pong, cards and chess with Chinese who brought her food and who could speak some English.

She said she was never held in a prison.

"There was usually a guard with a submachine gun and bayonet, ready at any time, but it wasn't necessary," said the 97-pound woman. "I could hardly overpower him."

Wearing a blue and white miniskirted dress and her brown hair hung loosely around her neck, Miss Harbert related her story at a news conference. Taken at gunpoint from a friend's sailboat off the China coast in mid-1968, Miss Harbert was freed Monday along with 44-year-old Richard G. Fecteau of Lynn, Mass. She and Fecteau, an Army civilian employee who was a prisoner of the Chinese for more than 19 years, crossed the border into Hong Kong.

Miss Harbert said she was captured while sailing from Hong Kong to Manila with Gerald Ross McLaughlin, formerly of Palo Alto. The Chinese said McLaughlin committed suicide in 1969 while in detention.

"We had no intention of trespassing into Chinese waters," Miss Harbert said. "We thought we were sailing a legal course. The Chinese who captured us said we had intruded. We were outnumbered, so we agreed it was possible we were in. It was also possible we were not. We didn't know."

Miss Harbert said she and McLaughlin were held in the same house—she upstairs and he downstairs—for the first nine months. She said she never saw him after that.

She also said she was never charged with a crime or brought to trial and denied spying for the United States.

U.S. Protests Cuban Seizure of Freighter

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — The United States is protesting the Cuban seizure of the freighter Johnny Express, whose naturalized American captain was shown on Havana television being treated in a hospital for wounds suffered when the ship was taken over.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Thursday that President Nixon, spending the weekend at the Florida White House, has expressed "grave concern" for Jose Villa, captain of the freighter which is owned by Cuban exiles.

Villa's wife and three children paid a visit to Nixon Thursday.

"He (Villa) has been gravely wounded," Mrs. Villa said afterward. "He has the right to be returned to me."

In one of the last radio messages received from the Johnny Express after it was attacked by a Cuban gunboat in the Bahamas Wednesday, Villa reported: "The deck is covered with blood. I am dying"

'Nixon Dollars' Are Confiscated

DETROIT (AP) — The Secret Service has confiscated thousands of inflated-in-size "Nixon dollars" that Michigan Democrats had been circulating to spoof the President and his economic policy.

Amused Democrats declared after the seizure Thursday that they knew dollars had been in short supply under the Nixon administration but they didn't realize how short.

A spokesman for the Secret Service said the oversized bills were confiscated as contraband under a federal law forbidding the use of imitation U.S. currency for novelty or advertising purposes.

"Nixon dollars" are about one-third larger than regular dollar bills. On the front is an image of President Nixon flashing a victory sign with one hand while crossing the fingers of the other. On the back the bills say, "God Help Us."

Each "One Frozen Dollar" is signed by "M. Mitchell, Keeper of the Cookie Jar," and by "John Con Lee, Secretary of the Treasury."

members wounded in the attack were pictured on Havana television late Thursday night recuperating in a Cuban hospital.

A commentator for the station identified Villa and the crew as counter-revolutionaries.

Teofilo Babun, one of four brothers who own the Miami-based Bahama Lines, denied that any of his ships have been used in raids against Cuba. Earlier, Radio Havana said the shipping line was fostering harassment against the regime of Communist Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

"The United States will be demanding the immediate return of Capt. Villa through the Swiss Embassy in Havana," Ziegler said. "This is an unacceptable act by the Cuban government and it is an act that cannot be tolerated in the international community."

The British government said it had instructed its ambassador to investigate the attack, which took place in British waters near Bahama.

Coach Resigns at FS Northside

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Charles Presley has submitted his resignation as head football coach at Fort Smith Northside and has asked for reassignment within the Fort Smith School District.

Presley's team won the state championship this year after posting an 11-1 record. The Grizzlies shared the AAAA title with Little Rock Catholic. Presley took over as head coach in 1970 after serving as assistant to Bill Stancil for 10 years. His first team had an 8-3 record.

Presley is married and the father of two children.

Man Charged in Shooting Death

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Willie Dawkins, 52, of El Dorado was charged today with murder in the shooting death of Louise Jenkins, 22, of El Dorado.

The victim died this morning in an El Dorado hospital.

Another El Dorado resident, Arthur McElroy, 37, was injured in the incident.

U.N. Meets to Find Successor

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council scheduled a closed meeting this afternoon to try to choose a new secretary-general to succeed U Thant on Dec. 31.

Diplomatic sources said the five permanent members of the council listed five nominees: Max Jakobson, Finland's delegate to the United Nations; Kurt Waldheim, Austria's U.N. ambassador; Felipe Herrera of Chile, former president of the Inter-American Bank; Prince Sadruddin Aga Khan, U.N. high commissioner for refugees; and Gunnar Jarring, the Swedish ambassador to Moscow and U.N. special representative for the Middle East.

Informants said the discussion and voting would not be limited to the five. They expected that one or another council member would propose Argentina's U.N. ambassador, Carlos Ortiz de Rozas; former Foreign Minister Gabriel Valdes of Chile, who is director of the U.N. Development Program's Latin American bureau; and perhaps S.S. Ramphal of Guyana.

These sources said there might be votes also for two announced candidates who did not make the Big Five's list: Shirley Amerasinghe, Ceylon's U.N. delegate, and Ethiopia's minister of communications, Endalkachew Makonnen.

The council may need more than one meeting to agree on a candidate to recommend to the General Assembly.

The five permanent members of the Security Council—Britain, China, France, the Soviet Union and the United States—play a decisive part in the process because the assembly can only vote on the council's nominee, and a veto from any of the Big Five can block any candidate.

The five failed to agree on a candidate in six private conferences in the past week.

On Thursday they sent the names of Jakobson, Waldheim, Herrera, Prince Sadruddin and Jarring to the council president for December, Ismael Byne Taylor-Kamara, of Sierra Leone, and asked him to call the council together today.
